About Gregg Shorthand

In last Sunday's Bee there appeared a letter which Messrs. Rohrbough Bros.

slieged they had sent to Mr. Gregg, but which was never received by him.

We are sincerely grateful to the writer of the letter for reminding us that we are "compromising our dignity" by fighting such people with their own weapons, but when a man is righteously indignant over outrageous treatment he is not apt to stand on dignity in expressing his settments. No one, for instance, condemns President Roseevelt for his vigorous words to the motorman. So we feel over attempts to use our name in connection with obvious imitations of what is the creation of our brain.

AN EXPLANATION

But Messrs. Rohrbough Bros. may rest assured that the law courts will soon adjudicate this whole question. Our purpose in advertising in the Omaha papers was to prevent Mosher Shorthand being foliated on intending students as "Improved Gregg Shorthand" until such time as the evidence for the courts was prepared in proper form. That time is fast approaching.

THOSE CHALLENGES

THOSE CHALLENGES

Memora. Rohrbough Bros. have accepted some of our challenges and declined others. The only challenge we withdraw is No. 1 and that because it would take so long to arrange preliminaries that it is possible Mr. Mosher might attain 100 words a minute in some system by the time the test was held. That particular challenge has little bearing on the question of the merits of Mosher Shorthand, in any event.

As to the other challenges, we will give Messrs. Rohrbough Bros. the privilege of first suggesting the personnel of the committees, promising not to take undue exception to the persons named by them. Messrs. Rohrbough Bros. are acquainted with the names of the eminent teachers of Gregg Shorthand and they will, therefore, have little difficulty in making up a list of twelve teachers of national prominence who are well qualified to decide whether or not the so-called Mosher "system" is an "Improvement."

The committees to decide the other questions may be suggested by them and, as previously stated, we will not take undue exception to the persons named; indeed, we will do all we can to facilitate matters. When the committees have been agreed upon we will deposit the money in an Omaha bank, pending the decisions.

WHERE WE WILL DEBATE

The valiant challenge to "debate" this question is ridiculous, especially after reminding us of "compromising our dignity." Mr. Gregg is too busy attending to the multitudinous details of an enormous and ever-growing publishing and school business to "debate" with "Professor" Mosher. Next week Mr. Gregg goes to Canada to conduct a Gregg Shorthand Teachers' institute under the auspices of the great Federated Business Colleges of Canada—all the schools controlled by the Federated Colleges having recently adopted Gregg Shorthand. When he returns from this institute he expects to make a visit to Omaha for the purpose of "debating" this question before the courts.

Interesting printed matter will be sent to anyone on application. In particular, we should be glad to hear from all the writers of Gregg Shorthand who read this advertisement.
